Harmony

Where, what and how does one possess harmony?
Is it not a quality created from within safety?
Where one feels no harm can come their way-
Huge protective arms keeping danger at bay.

This space and place are filled with gentle crisp air,
Like the soft cool breeze of the Himalayan night.
Sitting on top of the world, watching the crows soar below,
One senses openness, spaciousness and wisdom
The true domain of the human heart

Some spirits can cruise up and down,
Others less trusting cling to earthly attachments
Not knowing it is only half of the equation.
The other half is one's heart, intending no harm.

Learning to make hay while the sun shines
Is knowing that the sun's rays
Are all the energy and light we need
In order to create and manifest
Money and energy through harmony.
