

Whispers

 of

Grace

Volume II

Anne de Nada

SECTION I- ANIMALS

Water Snake

*I stood on the rocky edge of the lake,
Transfixed by arrow-like ripples spreading
Over the water's still surface.
Perfect ripples followed from the snake's wake-
A beautiful picture in slow motion.*

*Never before had I seen a water snake.
Its thick, slender, sleek body gliding
Just below the water's surface.
I knew the rest of the world stood still
While I entered the water snake's world.*

*Life became so clear to me.
It is not the beginning or the end that matters-
It is how we travel while finding our way.
It's what we leave behind in our wake.
Can we create effortlessly?
Can we glide with grace and spirit?
Releasing life's pure magic?*

*Universal wisdom is for all to see.
You, water snake,
Opened my eyes and
Burst my heart wide open.*